

Unseen Passage for Class 6 – Worksheet with Answers

Passage

Ravi loved waking up early in the morning. While the rest of the city was still asleep, he would quietly step out onto his balcony. The cool breeze touched his face, and the sky slowly changed its color from dark blue to soft orange. Birds began to chirp, and the silence of the night faded away.

Every morning, Ravi watered the plants his grandmother had grown. She always told him that plants were like friends—they needed care, love, and patience. Ravi noticed that the plants looked fresh and healthy because he took care of them daily. This made him feel proud and responsible.

One day, Ravi's school announced a "Green Day" celebration. Students were asked to speak about nature and its importance. Ravi decided to talk about his morning routine and how caring for plants had taught him discipline. His speech was appreciated by teachers and classmates, and Ravi felt confident and happy.
